VOL. CXXXI—69. ALEXANDRIA, VIRGINIA, MONDAY, MARCH 22, 1915. PRICE, 2 CENTS

FINAL DECREE IS ENTERED TODAY

Order of Court of Appeals Settles Matter of Annexation

FIX BOUNDARY LINES

Alexandria Bounded on North by Braddock Road, South by Hunting Creek, West by Roberts Lane.

An order was entered in the State Supreme Court Appeals today annexing certain outlying territory to the city of Alexandria. Judge Cardwell's opinion defining the territory alloted to this city in the decision about ten days ago had been indefinite. So far as the portion of Fairfax county was concerned, all asked by the city had been granted, which brings West End as far west as Roberts Crossing within the city limits with the mid channel of Hunting Creek as the southern boundry.

There was no uncertainty concerning the western line, but, as stated, the north line had caused some contention; hence it was necessary to apply to Judge Cardwell to fix the line which would end all disputes. In the decision it had been stated that the city alms house and ground attached thereto should be under the jurisdiction of the city, but in giving the limits of the new acquisition this property had been omitted.

Attorneys John M. Johnson and S. P. Fisher went to Richmond last night to represent the city of Alexandria in today's hearing. Alexandria county sent Commonweath's Attorney Crandall Mackey who was assisted by Representative Andrew J. Montague and his brother. Edward Duncan, supervisor, accompanied the above.

A dispatch was received by the Gazette early this afternoon from John M. Johnson which said:

"Order annexing territory all right'."

S. P. Fisher subsequently sent the following:

"By the decision of the Court of Appeals the present northern boundary line of Alexandria is extended to Braddock Road; thence to a point on the south side of Janney's Lane 50 feet west of King extended; thence around Washington Park to Roberts Lane; thence to the mid-channel of Hunting Creek.

"The decree was entered today with certain conditions and terms agreed upon by all interested. This decree is final and the case will not be remanded, which settles the matter. The annexation suit thus ends."

By referring to the map of Aexandria County it will be seen that the line will run to the top of the hill on Braddock Heights and apparently running through or near the properties of Wallace Lindsey, J. Johnston Green, W. R. Stone and G. Washington Lewis.

MOB DEMANDS FOOD

Food Problem in Mexico Causes Riots in Certain Places

San Francisco, March 22—A mob paraded the streets of Guaymas, Mexico, Saturday demanding food, and then broke into stores owned by Chinese merchants, and carried away everything of value. The authorities succeeded in dispersing the crowd, and now have the situation in control.

The demonstration, it was said, was begun by women. Men joined in the procession and added the women to plunder the Chinese stores.

Two hundred additional soldiers have arrived at Guaymas to assist in quelling the disturbances, and the streets are being patrolled by troops.

The food problem there was described as serious. No corn or beans are to be had, and the cost of other provisions is so prohibitive that the poor are on the verge of starvation.

NEWS OF THE DAY

Charles Francis Adams died early Saturday morning at his winter residence in Washington, D. C. He had been ill with grippe for a week. Mr. Adams was born in 1835. The deceased was widely known as a publicist and historian. He was a great-grandson of President John Adams, a grandson of President John Quincy Adams, and a son of Charles Francis Adams, minister to Great Britain in the Civil War period.

It is announced at Montgomery, Ala., that Judge Berney, in the Law and Equity Court of Mobile, has granted the application of the State of Alabama for an injunction against the Mobile Item, an afternoon newspaper, restraining it from publishing any kind of liquor advertising.

Six trains are fast in cuts on the Milwaukee system between Mitchell and Rapid City, as the result of a snowstorm which has been sweeping the western half of South Dakota since late Friday afternoon. The storm was especially severe west of the Missouri river, as the snow is drifting heavily.

A dispatch from Algeciras, Spain, says four sailing vessels, with Spanish dock laborers on board, have been lost in a furious storm. It is estimated that 300 persons on board the vessels were drowned. One hundred vessels of various nationalities have taken refuge from the storm in the Bay of Algeciras.

Horribly mutilated by a "Jack the Ripper," the body of little Leonore Anna Cohen, a pretty black-haired child of 5, was found last night in the hallway of her home in New York. In one pudgy fist was clasped a stick of lemon candy. Beside her was a jug of milk, for which she had been sent by her parents less than ten minutes before. The murderer carefully set it aside. Not a drop was spilled.

Damage suits were filed at Rockport, Ky., recently by Louella and Katherine Webster, members of a well-known Kentucky family, who alleged they were attacked in their homes by a band of "possum hunters," blindfolded, dragged into the cold, and then disrobed by the men, who afterward applied the lash to their backs. The suits are for $10,000 each, and are against thirty-six wealthy Butler County men.

A new and highly important phase of the German blockade of England dawned on Thursday when the submarine U-28, which for some time has been cruising in the neighborhood of Maas Lightship,, held up, captured, and confiscated two Dutch steamers, the Batavier V. of Rotterdam, and the Zaanstroom, of Amsterdam, and successfully convoyed them to Zuebrugge in broad daylight.

A telegram from Amsterdam states that more than 300 German infantrymen were removed to an insane asylum near Aix La Chapelle, shortly after the battle of Neuve Chapelle. The hours they spent under the British artillery fire, the noise, and the sight of their comrades being killed all about them had driven them mad. According to a German officer Neuve Chapelle was the most terribe battle of the war. Its casualties equaled those of Waterloo. The number of Germans missing is unknown. It is believed that large numbers of them have fled, insane.

When policemen went to the home of the Rev. Dr. James I. Campbell, a retired Methodist clergyman, in Hasbrouck Heights, N. J., yesterday to arrest him on a warrant accusing him of beating his wife, they found him praying and singing loudly. Mrs. Campbell said that her husband, who is 62 years old, had struck her repeatedly with his fists. "This is a frame up," said the clergyman at the jail. He insisted upon being addressed as "the Rev. Dr. Campbell" and not merely as "Mr. Campbell."

Officer And Sailors Drown.

Berlin (via London,) March 22.—A Constantinople dispatch received here today reported that Lieut. Commander William F. Bricker and three sailors of the United States converted yacht Scorpion were drowned Saturday night in the Bosphorus, off the Turkish capital.

ITALY AND AUSTRIA AT BREAKING POINT

Relations Between two Governments Reach Acute Stage

FAILURE OF GERMANY

Reports Circulated in Europe That Greece is About to Adopt an Active Attitude.

London, March 22.—The relations between Italy and Austria are believed to have reached an acute stage. A Rome dispatch says Austria and German subjects have been advised by their consuls to leave Italy in the shortest possible time, and that a number of Germans who recently arrived in Italy are being watched, because of a suspicion that they are military spies.

There have been reports for several days that Germany's efforts to secure the continued neutrality of Italy by inducing Austria to cede Trent and other territory to her were not meeting Owith success. Italy, it was said, demanded that the territory be ceded to her immediately, but that the Teutonic allies desired to make the transfer after the war.

Following this came reports that Austria had commenced strengthening her southern frontier and, according to a dispatch received in Paris from Rome today, Italian officers of all arms belonging to the first line, who have been on half pay, have been called to the colors. In military circles here this order is considered significant, it being contended that these officers would not be called from the public administration unless the situation was serious. No Austrian news on the subject is available in London the censor in that country having, it is said, prohibited comments.

There also are reports that Greece is preparing to adopt a more active attitude. Following a series of prolonged Cabinet meetings at Athens, the Greek Minister of Marine is quoted as having said that the Greek government had received all guarantees, and to have indicated that the country was about to engage in some enterspprise.

ZEPPELIN RAID ON PARIS.

Several Persons Injured—Driven off by Anti-Airship Guns.

Paris, March 22.—The first Zeppelin raid was carried out early yesterday. Four bombs were dropped in the city and thirteen in the suburbs.

Seven or eight persons were injured, one seriously, but none fatally. The material damage was slight. The raiders were driven off by the French aeroplane patrols and the fire of anti-airship guns. One of the raiders appeared to have been hit.

In their retreat the raiders dropped bombs on Compiegne, Ribecourt, and Dreslincourt. Some were explosive and some of incendiary character. No damage was suffered at these places.

Probably the most remarkable feature of the raid was the deportment of the population. Warned of the coming of the Zeppelins, men and women clad in night attire flocked in gay and jocular processions from their sleeping apartments to the streets, or in the case of the more discreet to the cellars in their homes. The discipline of the city's residents was marvelous. There was a complete absence of panic.

The raid generally was counted a failure. It served, however, to illustrate the high efficiency of the city's defense against aerial attacks. When the Zeppelins approached whistles were blown and the sleeping residents aroused, all lights were extinguished and when the raiders arrived over the city the capital was completely obscured.

A prayer for the restoration of peace composed by Pope Benedict XV, was read in Catholic churches in all parts of the country yesterday, and special services were held in many churches.

FALL OF PRZEMYSL

GARRISON SURRENDERS — FIFTY THOUSAND ARE CAPTURED

Petrograd, March 22—Przemysl has fallen, the Russian war office announced this afternoon.

The Austrian garrison has surrendered to the Russian besiegers.

Capture of the Austrian fortress came at the end of several months' siege. It automatically releases a Russian army of nearly 160,000 for action in Poland and along the Carpathian front and constitutes perhaps the greatest victory for the Russian army since the beginning of the war. The Austrian garrison that surrendered to General Dimitrieff is reported to number about 50,000.

BAILEY MAY COME BACK

Friends of Ex-Senator Confident He Will Be In Race In 1916 or 1918

Washington, March 22—Friends of former Senator Joseph W. Bailey, of Texas, are freely predicting that he will again represent the Lone Star State in the upper house of Congress before two years have elapsed.

This they say is spite of the fact that Bailey declared on his resignation, a short time before the close of the 62nd Congress, that he would not again accept a seat in the United States Senate if it were bestowed upon him for life and made hereditary for his son. They speak with such confidence that they must have good reasons to look for the return of their adored Achilles to the battleground he so lately abandoned in disgust.

The country as a whole probably took Bailey at his word two years ago and received without question his assertion that he had retired from politics forever. He doubtless succeeded in convincing himself that he had done this. But the profession of the law does not offer a man of the Bailey type, who has won a brilliant reputation as orator and debater in the halls of Congress, the same chance to distinguish himself as he had in the political forum.

Daniel Webster possessed great legal qualifications, but he never acquired the fame as a lawyer that he won and held as a Senator. Spooner of Wisconsin has made a decided financial success since his retirement from the Senate to resume the practice of law; yet the country rarely hears of him and most people think he is dead. Spooner seems able to stand it, consoling himself with his big legal fees; but to a being like Bailey it must be torture no longer to command the attention of the country and "the applause of listening Senators" at every crisis in political affairs. The probability is that he can no more help trying to "come back" than Napoleon could help it after he had retired to Elba.

Those who are familiar with political conditions in Texas can see that there is a tempting chance for the self-exiled warrior to return. Senator Culberson's term expires in 1917 and the primary campaign which decides who shall succeed him is to be fought out next year. There will be several candidates in the race.

If Bailey does not yield to temptation and get into the race next year, there will be another opportunity for him in 1918 when Senator Morris Sheppard's record in the Bailey shoes will have to be submitted to the voters of Texas for their verdict. Sheppard is a prohibitionist and Bailey is not. That issue might complicate things in 1918 more than in 1916 when there seems to be no essentially "pro" candidate in sight. However, if Mr. Bailey is going to run next year, he will soon have to be taking himself and his law office from Washington to Texas.

All Texans admit as a matter of course, that if Bailey runs, next year or later, there will be a campaign full of fireworks and excitement. He has raised a fine crop of durable enemies with whom he is bound to have the same old fight every time he runs for anything in Texas. The indiscretions and inconsistencies of his political record has been so glaring that his opponents will have plenty of amunition to bombard him from the first day of the campaign until the day of election. But with all that, they have never beaten him yet.

RECEIVER MAY BE APPOINTED

Ship Company Controlling Several Lines Cannot Pay Interest

EFFECTS OF THE WAR

Bondholders' Protection Committee at Work on Adjustment Plan—Steamers Will Run as Usual.

New York, March 22—The International Merchantile Marine Company, controlling the White Star American, Red Star, Atlantic Transport, Dominion and Leyland steamship lines, is likely to be put in the hands of a receiver this week.

This will be done to protect the holders of $52,744,00 collateral trust 4 1-2 per cent bonds, interest of which was deferred last October. It has been found that owing to war conditions the interest cannot be paid next week, Thursday, when due.

"Appointment of a receiver for the company would be the most expedient, safest and fairest solution of the situation," said a high official of the company last night.

The New York Trust Company is trustee for the 4 1-2 per cent bonds Otto Bannard, president of the trust company is chairman of the bondholders' protective committee. He has been at work with attorneys upon a readjustment plan.

A receivership will not cause a great shock in the Street, as it has been anticipated. The company was formed in 1902 by the late J. P. Morgan to acquire six steamship lines, having a gross tonnage of more than 1,000,000 tons. Five of the lines acquired continued to fly the British flag, and only one, the American Line carried the American flag. But one of the lines acquired, the Atlantic Transport, although operated under the British flag, was owned entirely in the United States, and had been highly profitable.

The immediate cause of the default of interest is the war. The British government took the finest ship of the White Star Line, the Olympic and it also requisitioned the beautiful Oceanic. The latter, while being used as a troop transport was rammed by a Canadian liner and sunk while in charge of a British naval officer. Payments due from the British government are slow of realization. The company finds itself short of cash to pay the $2,300,00 that will be overdue on the bonds next week.

The receivership will not interfere in any way with the operations of the ships now in servce.

CLOSE OF SUNDAY REVIVAL

Philadelphia, March 22—Billy Sunday's evangelistic campaign in Philadelphia, the largest and most successful he ever held during the eighteen years of revival work, closed last night. In all respects the campaign stands out as the most remarkable in Sunday's career. The Tabernacle is the largest he has ever had. The number of converts which was 39,946 after last night's sermon, is the largest that have ever attended the Sunday revivals. The expenses of approximately $58,000 are the largest of any of his campaigns. The free will offering, which last night reached $51,135.58, is in excess of the total expenses. More than two million have attended the services during the eleven weeks Sunday has preached at the Tabernacle.

Never before has he received so many gifts of merchandise, jewelry and other articles.

NEGROES EXCLUDED.

Attorney-General Holds Party Regulations Are Upheld in New Primary Law.

Richmond, March 22.—The large number of inquiries coming to the office of Attorney General Pollard for construction of the provisions of the new primray law, which went into effect on January 1, indicate great interest in the operation of the new act. In the primaries of next August are to be nominated members of both Houses of the General Assembly, and all of the county officers, except clerks, and in Richmond two members of the Administrative Board.

These officers, under the new law, are not permitted to have their names printed on the ticket unless their candidacy is supported by the petition of fifty qualified voters. One of the most serious questions which has arisen, under the law, is with reference to the commissioners of the revenue. These commissioners are elected by the voters of the entire county, although their jurisdiction is limited to their respective districts. It has been the custom heretofore in the Democratic primaries for each district to noimnate its own commissioner of the revenue, notwithstanding the fact that at the general election the voers of the entire country cast their votes for all the commissioners of the revenue in all the districts.

In answer to many inquiries on the subject, Attorney-General Pollard has rendered his opinion that, under Section 8 of the new primary law, the voters of the entire county must be permitted to vote for all the commissioners to be elected in the county, unless the party authorities should provide otherwise. The primary act leaves to the party committees wide discretion in making rules and regulations, provided they do not infringe upon the provisions of the act itself, which specifically recognizes the right of party committees to disqualify for participation in party primaries persons who have the right to vote at the general election. The Virginia primary law, unlike the primary law in most of the States, has not taken from the party authorities all control over the primary elections.

Attorney General Pollard has also rendered an opinion in which he holds that the provisions of the new primary act in effect uphold the rule made by the State Democratic Committee excluding all negroes from participation in Democratic primaries.

POLLARD OPENS CAMPAIGN.

Attorney General Given Reception by Reform Element in Norfolk.

Norfolk, March 20.—In his address last night at Wells' Theater, under the auspices of the Citizens' party, Attorney General John Garland Pollard lined up with the reform policies for which they stand, in opposition to the local ring, understood to be affiliated with the State organization, and indicated plainly that he would be in the race for Governor of the State, whether or not he received the endorsement of this faction throughout Virginia. Mr. Pollard also indicated that he expected the support of both the prohibitionists and the reform element of the state in his fight for the governorship. He told the voters that the only necessary thing to win in the primary was for the voters to qualify and turn out on election day.

COMING REUNION OF CONFEDERATES

Several Thousand Expected to Attend Gathering in Richmond

GALA TIME EXPECTED

Interesting Features Will Be Enacted During the Annual Encampment of Veterans Next June.

Richmond, March 22—The greater importance of the Confederate reunion June 1-3 is derived from the fact that a tablet in Hollywood Cemetery will be unveiled in memory of the women of the Confederacy who suffered without the immediate consolation of martial glory; that the Battle Abbey will be opened, and that the cornerstone of the monument to Stonewall Jackson, the first to be erected by his countrymen, will be laid. Memorials have been erected to Lee, Jefferson Davis and Jeb Stuart but to the memory of the greatest tacticians and strategists in all military history there is only that monument in Capitol Square erected in his name by English admirers.

It is hoped that between 8,000 and 10,000 veterans will be the guests of the city, and it is particularly desired that as large a number as possible may come to pay tribute to the memorial erected in honor of the women who fought the silent fight at home and bore the greater burden without a title.

The Battle Abbey, in which the mural decorations have not been completed, will probably be opened during the reunion. It will be the Mecca of all the veterans as a memorial to the Confederacy as a whole and to all those who took part in the struggle.

Every arrangement is being made to care for the visiting veterans and to provide them with comfortable housing and proper entertaining. A vast camp will be spread for them at the State Fair Grounds, to be named Camp Stuart, after Governor Henry C. Stuart, and here they will be in touch with the more important events now being planned.

Accommodations will be for between 8,000 and 10,000 veterans. Cots will be placed in all the buildings, and if these should not be sufficient, a long array of tents will be spread.

GERMAN SHIP HALTED

Was Leaving Porto Rico Without Clearance Paper

San Juan, Porto Rico, March 22—The German merchant steamer Odenwald which attempted to leave port yesterday afternoon without obtaining clearance papers, was stopped as she was passing out the entrance to the harbor by two shots across her bows from a 5 inch gun and direct shots from a maxim. She then returned and was taken in charge by the collector of customs.

Permission to sail was refused the Odenwald by the collector pending instructions from Washington. The steamer has been at San Juan since August 6. She was bound for European ports from the West Indies with freight and passengers, and sought refuge here. Three days ago she began coaling and taking on provisions.

Failing to obtain the necessary clearance papers, her commander apparently decided to risk the attempt to put to sea.

A heavy gun on Morro Castle sent two shots across her bow in way of warning, but it was not until the machine gun opened a direct fire that the steamer stopped, and headed back to port.

STEREOPTICAN LECTURE.

Rev. Dr. Huckel to Deliver Address on Bishop Phillips Brooks.

The Rev. Dr. Oliver Huckel, of Baltimore, will deliver a lecture on the late Bishop Phillips Brooks illustrated by steroptican views at Liggett Hall Episcopal High School, near this city tomorrow night (Tuesday), at half past seven o'clock. Dr. Huckel kindly promised to give it to the Seminary, but as the Seminary now has no public hall of any size, Principal Hoxton, of the Episcopal High School, generously accorded the Seminary the use of Liggett Hall.

Dr. Huckel is a lecturer of wide reputation and was personally acquainted with Bishop Brooks.

Those who have heard the lecture say that it is full of interest. There will be no charge for admission and it is hoped that a number of friends from Alexandria can attend.

WAR RECALLS REMINISCENCES.

The Richmond Journal in a cartoon represents Uncle Sam ready to wipe a mote from the eyes of others while carrying a beam in his own. The object of the picture is to call attention to the fact that Great Britain, France and Germany are but exercising a means of weakening each other which was adopted by the United States Government during the civil war in America. They have declared blockades upon each other, and demand that ships of neutral countries keep out of certain zones on the pain of capture and confiscation.

In 1861 the federal government declared the ports of Wilmington, N. C., Charleston, S. C., Mobile, Ala., and other places upon the Atlantic and Gulf coasts blockaded. It was understood that any vessel belonging to a neutral nation which was captured while attempting to enter these sealed ports would be confiscated together with its cargo. We have no statistics at hand to show how many British steamers were captured during the four years the blockade was in force, but a number fell into the hands of federal cruisers and were converted into transports and war vessels and flew the stars and stripes. England never demanded their release.

These former blockade runners were common objects in the Potomac and in the Alexandria docks in war times. They were fitted with raking masts and funnels and were painted to resemble the color of the ocean as much as possible. Some managed to run the blockade and carried articles which were exceeding scarce into Dixie during the war. They would leave port loaded with cotton.

In the early seventies one of these blockade runners, which had been renamed by the United States Government, ran aground on Ragged Point, in the Potomac, and remained there for some time. The steamer had been converted into a man-of-war. Some time in the eighties she was condemned and sold She was purchased by Alexandrians and towed to this port where she was dismantled converted into a barge and later sold to parties in Texas.

The Virginius, which carried the unfortunate Captain Frye and others to their death in Cuba in 1873, was also a former blockade runner.

After the close of the civil war the United States made a demand upon England for eighteen million dollars to cover losses to shipping caused by the career of the Confederate steamer Alabama, it being urged that as the vessel was constructed at Birkenhead, England was responsible for the damage inflicted by her. The claim was paid.

PASSING OF WINTER.

According to the almanac, spring made its advent yesterday. It was accompanied by strong northwest winds throughout the entire day, and the violence of Old Boreas did not subside until about sunset. The streets were filed with dust, which was hurled through the city in clouds and in some places whirled into spiral columns by the gale.

While the weather is not expected to become settled for several days, the winter of 1914-1915 may be regarded as a thing of the past. There will at times doubtless be sudden meteorological changes with occasional snow flurries, but they will be followed almost immediately by clear weather and mellow sunshine, which will bring joy and gladness as the swelling buds attract attention and give evidence of a revival of nature.

While the frigid weather may be regarded as having spent itself, the season into which we have entered is always trying, especially to the old and infirm. The sudden transitions from mild to cold weather, short-lived as they may be, are dangerous, and all should remember that some time must elapse before warm clothing can be discarded. In fact another month must elapse before we can do away entirely with fires.

We are now approaching the time when shad and herring will become more numerous in the Potomac. In a week or two the mild conditions which will prevail will cause these migratory fish to find their way once more to our doors.

ANOTHER OLD INHABITANT.

Writer Complains of Lack of Progressive Spirit.

Mr. Editor.—

I wish to thank "Old Inhabitant" for his pertinent remarks concerning the lack of civic pride evinced by our fellow townsmen, notably by those who bear the honorable title of "City Fathers." The most casual observer will perceive the unsanitary condition of the Market Square. What excuse, therefore, has our health officer for such neglect of his official duties The old sheds of Market Alley must hold the germs of disease, and conditions there are always bad. Are we to have another epidemic such as visited our town last year which left many homes desolate? Or will the City Council at its next meeting discuss the subject of better sanitation? The accident which occurred near the police station Saturday recalls a somewhat similar one at the entrance of the City Hall less than two years ago. It would seem a special dispensation of providence that a tragedy was prevented in both instances. Other towns have their public buildings inspected at certain times and such inspection would have prevented the descent of brick and iron that might have been a serious catastrophe. This neglect has put a heavy accent upon the words of "Old Inhabitant."

Not only is the health and safety of the community ignored, but there seems to exist a strange indifference to the appearance of things. Where is the town which has as much to be proud of in its history as Alexandria? Yet the beautiful gift of the Daughters of the American Revolution, which commemorates our past, failed to arouse more than temporary enthusiasm. It was received with a flourish of trumpets and professions of appreciation, but not the least effort has ever been made to keep the drinking fountain in order or to have the water turned on and off, as was promised. For nine months thousands of gallons of water were wasted, and the small and unfettered youth of the neighborhood (besides banging on the rim of the bowl) performed his morning ablutions there, even going so far as to bring with him soap and towel. Only the poor horses showed the proper respect for the gift. Such indifference caused the ladies much mortification, and after repeated petitions to various members of the City Council, the subject was dropped, while the thought embodied in the old adage concerning the il-judged distribution of gems naturally was suggested.

While other progressive towns employ a physician and nurse to examine the children of the public schools, this much-needed work was never considered by city officials here and only exists now through the efforts of the Cameron Club, a small society of public spirited women, which has during the past eighteen months presented the public schools with the services of an examining nurse. The benefits resulting can hardly be estimated, but, alas, the means are limited and will hardly be adequate to the expenses of another year. Is this good work to be abandoned because some appropriation of a petty nature, by the City Council must take precedence? I appeal to the public to demand attention to the necessity of having an examining physician and nurse for the public schools of Alexandria.

I would also like to call attention to the absence of police interference in cases of depredations on the property of taxpayers. Two old houses in and near north Washington seem to be given up to the revels of our most unruly element. As the tourist passes down Washington street the ruins of that celebrated old school house (once known as "Brimstone Castle,") confront the eye. With hardy a pane of glass intact, with shutters and doors unhinged, it stands a menace to the safety of the neighborhood, the resort of thieves and fire fiends. What a bad impression we make on the eyes of strangers and what wonder is it that our suburbanites fail to become enthusiastic over annexation. On the electric cars yesterday one was overheard to reply to a friend who asked him if he came within the annexed zone—"Thank God! No," he replied. "I don't want to be tied to a corpse." Another nearby said, "There is plenty of life in the carcase of a dead sheep."

Old Alexandria deserves to have better things said of it than these. It claims to have been the cradle of the constitution and the home town of Washington, Mason, Lee, Carlyle and Ramsay, and when there are so many good citizens in Council, the professions and private life, why should we allow our town to acquire the reputation for being the most non-progressive one in this section of the country? And why should we not give assurance of a future which will prove we are worthy of a greater territory made beautiful by a greater people?

It can't bite, it can't sting because that's cut out by the famous original "Tuxedo Process" that first made men realize how good a pipe smoke could be. That process today stands supreme. Recently Enacted Segregation Law Will Cut Hole in Lynchburg's Collections

Lynchburg, Va., March 22— The City Council at the April meetings will have to change the municipal tax laws to conform to new conditions brought about by the recent segregation law adopted by the State Legislature. The rate on intangible personalty will have to be lowered from $1.50 to 30 cents. The new laws will cost Lynchburg $110,000 this year, but to overcome this Council is expected to increase the rate on realty and tangible personalty 25 cents, this amount having been taken from these assessments for State purposes. Even with this addition to the rate Commissioner of the Revenue Snead estimates that Lynchburg's revenues will be reduced $40,000 this year.

Virginia Election Official Claims Damage For Libel

Fredericksburg, Va., March 22.— Hezekiah Potts, of King George county, has instituted a libel suit in the Circuit Court of that county against Dr.V. O. Caruthers, a physician, for $5,000 damages.

The suit grows out of the charges made by Delegate S. P. Powell, of Spotsylvania county, in the House of Delegates at Richmond, against Judge R. H. L. Chichester, of the Fifteenth Judicial circuit. During the developments of the case Dr. Caruthers wrote to Delegate Powell, in which he charged that Mr. Potts, who is a member of the Electoral Board of King George, is guilty of political turpitude.

The letter was laid before the Committee on Judiciary of the House of Delegates by Mr. Powell and was published.

MOSLEM WAR ON CHRISTAINS

Petrograd, March 22—A dispatch from Djulfa, Persia, to the Wesnik News agency, says:

"The Turkish counsel at Urumiah Mehemed Raghib Bey, at the Head of 700 Askaris, recently attacked the American mission at that place, where 1,500 orthodox Christians had taken refuge.

The consul ordered three priests and two deacons to leave the mission and as they were passing through the streets they were insulted and beaten mercilessly.

"In the courtyard to the orthodox mission a gibbet was erected.

"An American missionary, Mr. Allen, who also was subjected to insults and blows, succeeded in sending to Selmas two messengers to ask for prompt assistance from the Russian troops to save the lives of the Christians whom the mission was not able to protect."

Athens, March 22—Fresh Christian massacres are reported from the neighborhood of Aivalik, on the Antolin coast north of Smyrna.

Sixty families in the village of Kimerii were massacred.

POLICE INQUIRY

Alleged That Gambling In Roanoke Conducted Under Police Protection.

Roanoke, Va., March 22—A special session of the Roanoke city council has been called for tonight for the purpose of inquiring into charges that gambling in this city has receved socalled police protection. The inquiry will be made at the request of Mayor Moomaw. It follows a report submitted to Judge Kipg by a special grand jury last week.

This report referred to Chief of Police Moore and called on James McFall, chief of the fire department to explain gambling place in this city.

Pastors of the Roanoke churches promise to take an active part in the inquiry. The Rev. Dr. Virgin of Calvary Baptist Church addressed an open letter to the accused officials yesterday and called on them to make explanations.

The minister of the city had planned a mass meeting of protest to be held yesterday afternoon, but when they learned that the Mayor had asked the city council to investigate, they decided to postpone the meeting.
